WHY ALIGNMENT MATTERS

So many of us are giving everything to the people and seasons around us, but that doesn't always mean we feel aligned.

We're in transitions we didn't fully plan for. Our energy goes to what's urgent instead of what's meaningful. And sometimes we're moving so quickly that we forget to ask: Is this actually working for me?

This assessment gives you a quick snapshot of how aligned you are today and where small, strategic shifts could create a more intentional rhythm of life.

THE ASSESSMENT

Instructions

Rate each statement from 1–5 based on how true it feels right now. Don't overthink it, go with your first honest instinct.

Scoring Scale:

- 5 = Consistently true
- 4 = Often true
- 3 = Sometimes true
- 2 = Rarely true
- 1 = Not true

SCORE INSIGHTS

Whatever score you landed on, take a breath. There's no moral value attached to being "high" or "low" here.

Misalignment happens for many reasons: seasons shift, priorities evolve, responsibilities expand, or sometimes survival mode takes over.

The point of this assessment isn't to judge your life, but to help you understand what's working, what's not, and what wants attention. From there, change becomes possible.

AWARENESS IS STEP ONE — ALIGNMENT IS BUILT THROUGH INTENTIONAL CHOICES OVER TIME.

RESULTS

41-50

High Alignment

Your days mostly reflect what matters. You've built rhythms and systems that support the life you want. Continue refining and protecting what's working.

Focus: refinement + protection + sustainability

26-40

Partial Alignment

You're aware of what matters, but your time and energy don't always follow. This is the most common stage for high-capacity women — small adjustments can make a meaningful difference.

Focus: boundary support + intentional rhythm

10-25

Low Alignment

Life may feel productive on the outside but disconnected or unsustainable on the inside. Without alignment, friction increases and meaning decreases. The good news: this is highly changeable with clarity + support + intentional rhythms.

Focus: clarity + stabilization + support structure

BEFORE YOU TAKE ACTION

Alignment begins with awareness. Take a moment to notice what came up as you read your score insights. You might feel validated, relieved, curious, or even a little unsettled — all of that is normal. Alignment isn't about doing more, it's about paying attention to what wants to change.

Ask Yourself:

- What feels true about this season?
- What feels out of sync?
- What feels ready for attention?

MICRO RESETS TO START THIS WEEK

Here are a few micro shifts to experiment with this week as you begin noticing where alignment wants to emerge:

Pause

Pause 24 hours before saying 'yes' to a commitment.

Replace

Replace one "should" with a value-aligned "want."

Add

Add 10 minutes of solitude to bookend a day.

Remove

Remove one friction point from your morning routine.

Set

Set one micro boundary (email, response time, or tech).

Ask

Ask: "What would make this week meaningful?" then calendar it.

Name

Name one thing you're no longer willing to carry alone.

WANT FURTHER SUPPORT?

Alignment isn't about changing everything. It's about consistently returning to what matters most and having the clarity to know what that actually is.

For most of us, that shift doesn't happen through willpower or good intentions. It happens when someone sits across from you, asks the right questions, and helps you hear yourself clearly.

If you're in a season of transition, carrying more than you should, and quietly wondering whether you're building toward the right thing, this is the work.

And I'd love to do it with you.
